

Use of CSIC Website Content

- All content on this website, including text, logos, graphics, maps, videos, images, audio clips, or electronic downloads, is the property of CSIC or its contributors, unless stated otherwise. It is protected by intellectual and industrial property laws.
- External websites are permitted to hyperlink to the CSIC website or any of its pages without needing prior permission, in accordance with standard internet practices.
- You may download material from this website for personal, non-commercial use only. However, you are not allowed to resell, redistribute, compile, or create derivative works from this material, unless specific restrictions apply.
- Reproduction of short excerpts from CSIC material is authorised without formal written permission, provided the original source is properly acknowledged.

For any other use, permission is required. Please address your queries to the CSIC Communications Office.